

College Bowls including Inaugural College Football Playoff

College Football Playoff National Championship Game Airs January 12, Preceded by 24 Hours of Live Preview Coverage

ESPN Radio’s season-long coverage of the 2014 college football campaign will culminate with a 26-game postseason bowl schedule, including all matchups from the inaugural College Football Playoff, capped by the College Football Playoff National Championship Presented by AT&T on Monday, Jan. 12, at 8:30 p.m. ET. Veteran play-by-play voice Mike Tirico will call the much-anticipated inaugural final alongside analyst Todd Blackledge, with reporters Holly Rowe and Joe Schad.

ESPN Radio will also broadcast each of the “New Year’s Six” bowls featuring the College Football Playoff Semifinals and four additional premier games, starting Wednesday, Dec. 31, with the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl as No. 6 TCU faces No. 9 Ole Miss. Dave Neal and Andre Ware will describe the action with reporter Laura Rutledge. The College Football Playoff Semifinals will include the Rose Bowl Game presented by Northwestern Mutual (No. 2 Oregon vs. No. 3 Florida State) on December 31, and the Allstate Sugar Bowl (No. 1 Alabama vs. No. 4 Ohio State) on Thursday, Jan. 1.

Additional schedule highlights:

- ESPN Radio’s lead college football commentating team of Bill Rosinski, David Norrie and Joe Schad will call six bowl games, including the Capital One Orange Bowl (December 31) and the Allstate Sugar Bowl College Football Semifinal, adding to their 22 regular season games (out of 30);
- This year’s schedule includes four more bowls than last season;
